

RIVERWIND HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION INC.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

SITE IMPROVEMENT COORDINATION COMMITTEE (SICC)

The SICC was established to ensure that appropriate residency and landscaping changes do not alter the established Riverwind schema, impact housing values, or introduce landscape materials that are invasive or would create a danger to the residents or surrounding properties (as in towering trees). Modifications to porches or decks that improve safety are encouraged.

It is strongly suggested that ALL landscaping or building contractors be licensed, have insurance or be bonded before working on your residence. The residents of Riverwind and the RHOA are not liable for any injury or lawsuit stemming from work performed by contractors on any property or residence.

Homeowners are reminded that County or State Permits may be required for any structural modification or addition. RHOA approval does not supersede this requirement.

Homeowner actions that Require SICC/Board review and approval, prior to the commencement of work, include but not limited to the following:

1. The addition of a porch, paved patio, shed, garage or carport to an existing residency. Any such porch, shed, garage or carport shall be permanently attached to the residence.
2. The expansion or alteration of an existing porch, paved patio, shed, garage, driveway, carport or residence except a porch entrance gate.
3. The conversion of an existing carport into a garage or vice versa.
4. Any modification, alteration or change of the existing exterior materials of construction or color of residence.
5. The addition of new trees having a mature height of 30 (thirty) feet. Mature trees that are considered a danger to a homeowner or nearby residence should be trimmed to a reasonable level by a licensed arborist.
6. Properties that are adjacent to street intersections should trim bushes/trees to allow for traffic visibility.
7. All alterations, revisions, modifications and additions to landscaping and drainage facilities within the street right-of-way, easement or common areas.
8. All alterations, revisions, modifications and/or additions to any drainage ditch/pipe or swale in Riverwind.
